Karnival Krewe Division Marshall Named-Maid of Honor List Nearly Complete - Flower Parade Entries-Notes and News.

When the grand marshal next Tuesday night sweeps down the long line of gaily caparisoned horses, past the twenty gorgeous floats that represent the stories of the Danish poet and story writer, past the wavering lights and the torchbearers, past the six hundred musicians, he will wave his scepter of authority and with the starting of the annual parade of the Priests of Pallas the fall festival of 1897 will be under way. The directors of the pageant are receiving many letters from outside cities regarding the interest of the people in this year's floats and there is every indication that the railroads will be taxed to their capacity to haul the people into town to see the big event of the week.

The marshals for nearly all of the divi sions of the Carnival parade of Thursday afternoon have been selected and they will announce their aides next Thursday. The division marshals thus far decided upor are as follows:

American—G. M. Walden. German—George H. Michaelis. Swedish—Charles Arlund. English—George Law. African (citizens)—W. H. Bouafield. African (Suwanee river)—L. L. Thomp-

The Chinese have not yet chosen a marshal, but it is probable that they will decide upon one to-day. The Shriners intend to be represented in the parade of nations by a Syrian division, in which it is the intention to out Syria Syria. The famous Midway band of musicians that created so much merriment at the baseball game between the Shriners of St. Joseph and Kansas City several weeks ago has been engaged at a tremendous cost to furnish the music for this division. This band is one of the things in life worth living for. People who have heard its music say they never heard anything like it before. The costumes of the Syrians will be truly representative and people who have visited this famous out-of-the-way summer resort will be unable to distinguish between the imitators and the genuine.

The board of trade men are working like beavers building a dam. It is the one all-consuming desire in life for them to beat the stock yards representatives in the parade, and neither money, time nor labor will be spared to accomplish the desired end. Just what the board will show the people is not known, for, like Br'er Rabbit, "he lay low," On the other hand, the stock yards crew is busy at work and the enterprise and energy of the men from the yards is too well known to doubt that they will be in line with something worth seeing. There are any quantity of funny fellows, "with odd ideas," down at the yards, and they are all at work putting their thoughts into tangible form for the Parade of the Nations.

Twenty-four of the maids for Queen Car nation's court have been selected by Missouri and Kansas towns, and but three or four places are yet to be heard from, unless the committee should heed the requests of delegations from several of the towns and allow them to send representatives without a voting contest having been held. The list of maids of honor, so far as reported last night, is as follows:

The float for Miss Frances C. Cravens,

MISS OLIVE EWING, ferson City's Maid of Honor,

who will take the part of Queen Carnation, is rearly completed, as well as the float for the maids of honor. Besides Miss Cravens there will be on her float two pages, two fairies and six maids of honor. The gown she is to wear is nearly ready, but it will not be described until after the Flower parade. Entiries for the parade are still coming in, six having been received at headquarters yesterday, and it now looks as though the 100 mark might be passed. The music for this parade will be of the highest order and the displays will probably equal those of the two previous years. An attractive feature will be the Japanese float, which will be filled with characters from the opera of "Mikado." Yun Yum, the three little maids and all the rest of the familiar characters of that Oriental pleasantry will be accurately represented. In steadying him, McCleary had to pull hard on Pointer's ulcerated tooth that has troubled him much of late. A change from link to snapple bit was made to-day, but the horses showed plainly that his mouth troubled him. He got away slow and, fearing to hurt his mouth, McCleary drove him wide of the pole. From the half on he was squared away, doing the third quarter in 6:28 and the last half in 0:58%.

Near the body lay an empty bottle labeled "Chloroform."

A farmer, Henry Freeman, who lives near the Murphy farm, identified the body as that of a man he had picked up at Thirtieth and Cherry streets. September 9, as he was driving home, and had let down at Mr. Green's farm gate. The latter then recalled that the man had asked him for work on September 9, but he had none to offer, and the man turned away with tears in his eyes. He told Mr. Green upon the latter's questioning him that his son worked in a restaurant in Kansas City, and that he had a married daughter in Topeka, but they had both refused to aid him. He was 5e years old and not able to do much work and as he left Mr. Green he said he was nearly disheartened. The appearance of the empty chloroform bottle bears testimony that the old fellow had crawled into the corn shock and committed suicide. The dogs gave the first clue to the whereabouts of the body. The Tyro stakes race was the chief event, but was really a contest between The Abbott and Georgina, the others being prac-tically out of it. The Abbott took three straight. The other races were easy marks and not particularly interesting. Results: Foals of 1894; trotting: 20,000. American Belle won in three straight heats. Best time, 2:1244. FOOTBALL FOR CARNIVAL WEEK The Medics and K. U. to Play at Exposition Park Next Wednesday Forenoon.

The first and second teams of the University Medical college football players put in an hour of practice at Exposition park yesterday afternoon. While the first team is hardly in fit condition for the games that are to be played with the Kansas and Missouri teams during Carnival week, it is hoped that the players will round to before the game scheduled with Kansas Edward Pendleton is captain of the team, and Heller, formerly of Baker, is coach. There is some strong material on the team and some that needs working out. The team will line up as follows:

Mexico, Mo., Sept. 28.—(Special.) The Mexico Athletic Club, which last year had the best football team of any like organization in the state, gives promise of putting out an eleven this season hard to beat. Fred Morris, halfback of the Central university, Richmond, Ky., '26 team, has been elected captain, and the pig-kin enthusiasts feel sure that under his leadership the boys will go to vistory. Last year the local team played the second cleven of the State university to a tie, and this fall they will probably try conclusions with the great Tigers themselves. Other games that will likely be arranged are with normal, Christian Brothers' college and Smith academy, St. Louis.

The line-up will probably be: Center, Captain Morris; guards, Sullivan and Lapton, tackles, Bruce and Lewis; ends, Potts and Quisenberry; quarterback, Tuck Graham; halfbacks, Emmons and Ferris; fullback, Gus Graham.

Cambridge, Mass., Sept. 28.—The Harvard football squad is getting its first real taste of the game. The increase in the amount allowed for clerk hire will not be satisfactory to the office nor will it allow enough additional force to handle the rapidly increasing business of the office. The increase was expected to be sufficient to warrant the employment of four clerks at least. Unless more than one clerk is given it will render it necessary to entirely overhaul the office. it necessary to entirely overhaul the office and completely reorganize the working force.

The finest, most delicate things you have you needn't be afraid to wash with Pearline. The fact that a thing is delicate and easily torn is the very reason why you should take Pearline to it. Nothing else can get it clean with so little rubbing and wrenching.

If you observe carefully, you'll notice that the women who are the most particular about their washing and their housekeeping and their housework are the ones who are the most enthusiastic about Pearline. Look Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you, "this is as good as" or "the same as" Pearline. IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled; if your grocer sends you an imitation, be honest —send it isch 528 JAMES PYLE, New York.

DEATH CLAIMS J. L. GRIDER.

EXPIRED AT THE CITY HOSPITAL AFTER A BRIEF ILLNESS.

He Was Born in Kentucky of Revolutionary Ancestry-Well Known as a Lawyer, a Politician and an Orator.

Judge L. Grider, a well known attorney of this city, died this morning at 12:30 o'clock at the Sisters' hospital, of conges tien of the brain. His death had been expected for several days and his mother and aunt were at his bedside when his life and aunt were at his bedside when his life departed. The remains will be taken today to Bowling Green, Ky. his birthplace. He was taken ill two weeks ago at the Cordova hotel, where he was living. Congestion of the brain developed and he was removed to the Sisters' hospital a week ago. His physician, Dr. Bedford, gave up all hope last Sunday of his recovery.

Judge L. Grider was born at Bowling Green, Ky., thirty-nine years ago. His father was Colonel Ben C. Grider, one of the foremost lawyers of Kentucky, and his grandfather was in the United States senate from Kentucky a few terms. His mother was a daughter of Hon. W. L. Underwood, of Bowling Green, and a great niece of Patrick Henry. Mr. Grider was a son of the American Revolution, both through his father and mother. His father died when he was a young boy. After completing his public school education at Bowling Green he was sent to the Nashville Military academy and afterwards graduated from the Lebanon Law school in Kentucky.

When a mere boy Mr. Grider possessed wonderful powers of oratory. Politicians and men about town who knew the boy frequently put him upon horse blocks or store boxes, where he would deliver addresses on the political issues of the day, much to the amusement of his hearers.

He came West to Wellington, Kas., in the early '80 s and was one of the leading lawyers of Sumner county. He was prosecuting attorney of Sumner county for one term and was the delegate-at-large from the state to the Chicago Democratic convention when Cieveland received his second nomination for the presidency. He came to Kansas City six years ago and became a member of the law firm of Dexter, Meriwether & Grider, with offices in the New York Life building.

He took an active part in local Democratic politics and was a candidate for the nomination as prosecuting attorney of Jackson county in 184, but was defeated in the convention by J. H. Bremermann.

Mr. Grider was 29 years old and unmarried. His brother, Warner W. Grider, is manager for a British syndicate of mi departed. The remains will be taken to day to Bowling Green, Ky., his birthplace

George, at that time an attorney at Wellington.

In the Democratic state convention in Kansas, held at Wichita, in 1888, to select delegates to the national convention, George led what was known as "the regulars" from Sumner, while Grider headed a contesting delegation. It seemed to be generally believed that the Georgeites had shown up the most votes in Sumner, but there was a kindly feeling for Grider. In presenting the contest, it was arranged for Grider to address the convention. He did so, and long since the convention was remembered only by that speech.

He started out by making a Democratic speech. He showed all the graces of an ornator and at the same time displayed the wisdom of a trained advocate by saying little of his case. At the close of his speech there was wild enthusiasm. and the others retained, each being given a half vote.

Mr. George also moved to Kansas City and the two had offices close together. Both were wise enough to bury the hatchet and naturally they became warm friends, and their friendship was of the enduring sort that came from an abiding respect for each other.

EDITORS FEEL GOOD TIMES. Couple of Them Spend the Day in Kansas City and Haven't a Kick to Make. Hall Gilchrist, editor of the North Mis-sourian. at Gallatin, and C. M. Green, editor of the Herald, at Lathrop, were in editor of the Heraid, at Lathrop, were in the city yesterday buying new material for their offices. Both report a greatly im-proved condition of business. The courtry merchants are doing well, consequently they are advertising freely, and there are plenty of large orders for job printing that make the printer's heart glad. Mr. Gil-christ is an applicant for the postoffice at christ is an applicant for the postoffice at Gallatin. He has long been an ardent worker for the party, edits a staiwart Republican paper and feels hopeful of winning in the contest. Gallatin is the former home of Webster Davis, assistant secretary of the interior, and he and Mr. Glichrist are warm friends. Mr. Green runs an independent paper, but is sharing in the general prosperity and has no disposition to complain of it.

DR. M'CURDY CHOSEN.

Elected Permanent Pastor of the Fifth Presbyterian Church, Twelfth and Brooklyn. Rev. Dr. Irwin P. McCurdy, who has been called to the pastorate of the Fifth Pres-byterian church, at Twelfth street and byterian church, at Twelfth street and Brooklyn avenue, was for eleven years pastor of the Southwestern Presbyterian church at Philadelphia, and is said to be a man of pleasing personality, gifted with a fluent expression of ennobling and elevating thoughts. Several years ago he resigned his pastorate to spend his time in travel and research, that he might better fit himself to perform his mission in life. When Rev. Dr. C. H. Bruce resigned as pastor of the Fifth Presbyterian church last May, the members of the congregation asked Dr. McCurdy to temporarily fill the pulpit thus made vacant. They were so well pleased with him that at the meeting of the church members Monday night he was unanimously chosen to fill the pulpit. Dr. Bruce has accepted a call in Muncie, Ind.

Rarest Wild Beasts.

Not only is the great Adam Forepaugh and Sells Bros.' magnificent animal, arenic and hippodromatic corsolidation which appears here next Monday, October 4, conspicuous for the grand array and unparalleled variety and quality of the wild beasts, birds and amphibia massed in its enormous united menageries, but there are many stangendous curious and beautiful beasts, birds and amphibia massed in its enormous united menageries, but there are many stupendous, curious and beautiful creatures, never before placed on exhibition and nowhere else to be seen. Included among these are the only school of trained seals and sea llons, the pair of giant male and female hippotamuses, an Ethiopian gnu, or horned horse; a strange Orinoco tapir, a Niger antelope, an African eland, a full grown snow-white polar bear, and a monster double-horned, Sumatra rhinoceros. Such a collection merits far more than the hurried inspection accorded to the ordinary traveling menagerie, and artfully discouraged at that. It is worth careful consideration and study, which the management solicits. Don't rush blindly through it to sit idly on a circus seat for a long hour before the circus performances begin. There is ample room and accommodations for all comers under the stupendous hippodrome canopy, and due notice is always given. Take a good look at the interesting beasts and birds both before and after the acts and races. They will give you and the children something to talk about for many a day.

School Enrollment Growing.

School Enrollment Growing.

"A conference of the public school principals was held in the board of education rooms last night. Superintendent Greenwood discussed methods of teaching and supervision with the principals. Each of the principals reported his enrollment, and it was found that about 300 more pupils are now enrolled than when school opened, three weeks ago.

Gift to Father Zechenter.

A number of friends of Rev. Father Zechenter, pastor of Sts. Peter and Paul's church, corner of Ninth and Mcthe streets, gathered at his home Sunday evening and presented him with a check for $30 to defray the expenses of a trip for his health. Father Zechenter has been ill for several weeks at the German hospital.
